Graffiti and Street Art

Modern graffiti began in big cities in the United States in the 1970s. In New York, young people wrote their names or "tags" in pen on walls (1) the city.

One of the first "taggers" was a teenager called Demetrius, (2) wrote his tag - TAKI 183 - on walls and in stations in New York. Other teenagers saw Demetrius's tag and started (3) their tags too. Soon, there were tags on walls, buses and trains all over New York.

Then, some teenagers started writing their tags with aerosol paint. Their tags were bigger and (4) colourful. Aerosol paint graffiti (5) very popular in the 1970s and 1980s. It appeared on trains, buses and walls around the world.

In the 1990s and 2000s, a lot of graffiti artists started painting pictures.

In some countries, writing or painting on walls is a crime. Sometimes, graffiti artists have problems (6) the police. In other countries, artists can draw and paint in certain places. For example, in Taiwan, there are "graffiti zones" (7) artists can paint on walls and in Sao Paulo in Brazil, some graffiti artists (8) to paint on the city's subway trains.

Nowadays, street art is more popular with the public. In some cities, there are street art festivals. In Bristol in the UK, there is a street art festival in August every year. Artists paint all the buildings in a street. Lots of people come to watch the artists and (9) photos.

Today, many street artists use the internet to look at photos of street art from around the world. They communicate with other artists on-line and share ideas. We don't know what will happen to street art in the future, (10) we can be sure that it is here to stay!
